

Recall elections: submission to panel of constitutional experts

CL

...made in haste, as you allowed 3 days for making a submission!

Dear Panel Members: Ell, Davo, Georgie-Peorgie

Some of the mates now wanna nobble Bazza. Rememba, the other mates wanted to nobble KristieK early last year, poor thing (made her hair shrink, look at her now!). Reckon there'll allays be about a third of brothers "Not Happy, Bazza" or "Not Happy, John" or you-know, just not-happy-chappies. About 1m whingers on either side, easy-peasy to get a ton or so to sign a petition anytime you like. Ony way it'd work'sif you make'em pay a pony each ta geta nother chance ta vote.

But why waste the paper? If most are dumb enough to keep pickin one side beyon their use-by date, then changing donkeys mid-stream, after just a couple of years, is a dubble waste of the ole tic-toc. The punters should spend more millisecons and brain hp studying the form guide b4 an election about who's gunna screw 'em lesst, and give that mob four years, no interupshuns, straight.

You need one to get settled, two to plan, three to do something and No 4 to spin for the elecshun that's suddenly just roun the corner. Flat out, like blue tongues wagging, poor pollies, not even one year's rest. Genuinely sorry for 'em...but someone's gotta sit on those hard South Sydney seats in that rummy old building leftover from McKwarry where you can't get a parking spot to save yuself.

Nah, reckon "doing a Lauren" is just Hollywood. And about the same vintage, yesterday's plot. Give it a miss.

But the buggers shouldna orta get away with no gee up for a hole Olympiadd. Reckon ya need some way of making them take notice, and do what the punters want. Ya doan havta ask all punters, jus ask 3 or 5 elektroates. Pik'em early, week afta elecshun - one for Labor, one for Lib, one for Greens, one up the northkost where ya can fish and swim, one out west to keep the tracta caractas happy. Then, 2 years in, hold a plebbysite thingo in jus those 5. Everyone can havva go at namenating what to vote on (run a Daily Tele poll, pick 5 subjects - Rupert'd luv it), let Her GoverHiness choose the 2 or 3 TopPics for final vote (make the Lady Bugga do some work, ern keep). Might be a TV show in it: MasterChoice!

You post out vote papers (rank Top 2/3 outa 5), and punters can post'em back...for now. Coupla years, they can all havva pick on the intaweb thingo, instant like, over that enbee-en wires whatchamacallit with the lite fibre, like Star Wars. Or WeetBix. New betting agency -VoteFair - could run a book: 5/1 pick the order.

Problem solved. No Lauren Recall. Jus survay 5 spots at halftime n'tell the pollies to get on with it, or them. Whatever the punters vote 4. Demacratik, hey?

PS: Neatest vote should win a prize. Govna for a Day! All ya can eat while sitting in Mrs McKwarry's Chair dangling yur toes in a warm futbath...with champers.

- Civil Liberties Australia.

(No need 2 send thanks, just send money or free betting vouchas).