Your story	Although we live in the centre of Blackheath and did have flames at our doorstep, it was a harrowing time. The smoke and anxiety were probably the worst aspect of it all but the community reponse was marvellous. As a grandparent, I worry about the world we are leaving behind for future generations. My response is only going to be a short one. The root of my concern is that there needs to be meaning ful action on climate change that starts to bring CO2 emissions down. At the same time, I would like to see Governments make a better job of the risk management required for climate change. That

means listening to fire chiefs having the resources available and strategies in place to mitigate the situation we are in.
