Penrose has only 1 fire truck and I feel there should be 2 tho the RFS did a wonderful job. Some hazard reduction burning in carefully considered areas would assist before future fire seasons also the removal of some overhanging branches on tracks & roads. However the RFS Volunteers already give a large amount of their time. They can't be expected to do everything. I would like Aboriginal groups who are experienced in cool season burning given funds to train more people. At present the waiting list for these knowledgeable groups is very long.
